

Abstract

Methods for converting fruits and vegetables into powders that help to better preserve perceived colors of the fruits and vegetables and/or improves dispersion of the powder when the powder is mixed with a liquid medium to form a beverage.